5. Should individual provisions of the contract between MOOG and the Customer, including these „Terms and Conditions for the Delivery of Machines from MOOG GMBH Brückenzugangstechnik (Under-bridge Access Solutions)“ are, or become, wholly or partially ineffective, this shall not affect the effectiveness of the remaining provisions. ## II. PRICE AND PAYMENT

7. The Customer is only entitled to withhold payments to the extent that his claims are undisputed or have been legally established.
8. The Customer's right to offset due to claims from other legal or contractual relationships shall only be applied to the extent that such claims are undisputed or have been legally established.

III. DELIVERY TIME, DELAY IN DELIVERY

1. The delivery time will be derived from contractual agreements between the parties. MOOG's compliance with delivery time presupposes that all commercial and technical questions between the contracting parties have been clarified and that all obligations incumbent on the Customer have been fulfilled or satisfied (such as providing the chassis, obtaining the necessary official certificates or permits, or making a down payment). If all obligations of Customer have not been fulfilled, the delivery time will be extended by a fair and reasonable amount of time in relation to the importance of the unfulfilled obligation. This extension will not apply if MOOG is responsible for the delay.
2. The delivery time shall be deemed in compliance subject to correct and timely delivery from MOOG, as previously agreed to by the parties. MOOG shall promptly notify the Customer of any events that will likely result in delay.
3. The delivery time shall be extended appropriately in cases of force majeure, labor disputes or any other events that are beyond MOOG's control. MOOG shall promptly notify the Customer of the beginning and the end of such circumstances.
4. The delivery period shall be deemed to have been complied with if the item has left MOOG's factory by the time the delivery period expires, or upon notification to the Customer item is ready for dispatch. If acceptance must be carried out by the Customer, except in the case of justified refusal of acceptance, the acceptance date shall be conclusive, or alternatively the notification of readiness for acceptance.
5. If the dispatch or acceptance of the delivery item is delayed for reasons for which the Customer is responsible, the Customer will be charged for any storage costs or fees incurred by MOOG that are a result of the delay.
6. Goods reported as ready for dispatch must be picked up or retrieved by the Customer immediately, and under no circumstances later than an expiry period of 4 weeks (20 working days), calculated from the date of the notification of readiness for dispatch by MOOG. If no call or collection is made within the aforementioned period, MOOG is entitled to store the goods at its own discretion, at the expense and risk of Customer, and to invoice them in full as „delivered ex works“.

IV. TRANSFER OF RISK, ACCEPTANCE

1. The risk shall pass to the Customer when the delivery item has starts on the journey to Customer, or, if applicable, when it is handed over to the Customer or carrier in accordance with the valid Incoterms. This also applies if partial deliveries are made or MOOG has assumed other services, e.g., shipping costs or delivery and unloading/installation.
2. If dispatch/collection or acceptance is delayed or does not take place as a result of circumstances for which MOOG is not responsible, the risk shall pass to the Customer from the date of notification of readiness for dispatch or acceptance. Upon - request of the Customer and at the expense of the Customer, MOOG will take out all insurances demanded by the Customer.

3. Partial deliveries are admissible.

V. RESERVATION OF OWNERSHIP

1. MOOG retains ownership of the delivery item until all payments have been received - including any additional ancillary services owed under the delivery contract.
2. MOOG is entitled to ensure the delivery item at the Customer's expense against theft, breakage, fire, water and other damage, provided that storage of the goods by MOOG, which have been reported ready for dispatch or acceptance, is necessary (e.g., due to delay in collection/acceptance or default in payment by the Customer). This is void if Customer proves to MOOG that a corresponding insurance policy already exists or has been taken out by Customer. Customer must inform MOOG of any such insurance policy without the request of MOOG.
3. The Customer may neither sell, pledge nor assign as security the delivery item until all payments have been received by MOOG. In the event of seizure, confiscation or other dispositions by third parties, Customer must inform MOOG immediately.
4. In the event of breach of contract by the Customer, in particular in the event of default in payment, MOOG is entitled to take back the delivery item after a due reminder and the Customer is obliged to surrender the delivery item.
5. Due to the retention of title, MOOG may only demand the return of the delivery item if MOOG has previously withdrawn from the contract.
6. If insolvency proceedings are opened against the Customer's assets and MOOG has not yet received all payments under the contract, MOOG shall be entitled to withdraw from the contract and take back the delivery item.

VI. ASSEMBLY / ACCEPTANCE / TRAINING AT THE CUSTOMER'S SITE

1. If assembly / acceptance / training at the Customer's site is part of the contract, the following shall be organized by the Customer and the costs thereof shall be borne by the Customer, unless otherwise stipulated in the contract:
  - Provision of scaffolding, lifting and crane vehicles as well as other possibly necessary devices;
  - Provision of installation tools, electricity, heating, sanitary facilities, and lighting;
  - Provision of work safety clothing for MOOG's fitters, experts, trainers, or other persons commissioned by MOOG;
  - Obtaining permits for the use of bridges;
  - Concrete description and overview of invisible lines/cables as well as all other information required for installation and assembly;

  - If necessary, organization of additional helpers on site
  - The Customer ensures that the place of performance is prepared accordingly, that all required parts are available and that all preparatory work has been performed and completed at the beginning of the agreed service date.
2. The Customer shall bear the costs for any waiting times incurred, insofar as the aforementioned obligations of the Customer have not been fulfilled on time or have not been completely fulfilled.
3. The Customer is responsible for the transport of the delivery item from the place of unloading to the place of installation and is liable for any damage that may occur in the process.

VII. CLAIMS FOR DEFECTS, WARRANTY

MOOG shall be liable for material defects and defects of title in the delivery, to the exclusion of further claims - subject to Section VIII - as follows:

Material defects

1. All parts which prove to be defective as a result of a circumstance prior to the transfer of risk shall be, at the discretion of MOOG, repaired or replaced free of defects. MOOG must be notified immediately in writing of the discovery of such defects. Replaced parts become the property of MOOG.
2. After consultation with MOOG, Customer shall grant MOOG the necessary time and opportunity to carry out all repairs and replacement deliveries deemed necessary by MOOG; otherwise MOOG shall be released from liability for the resulting consequences. Only in urgent cases where operational safety is endangered, or in order to prevent disproportionately large damages, shall Customer have the right to remedy the defect himself or have it remedied by third parties, and demand reimbursement of the necessary expenses from MOOG. Should such a case occur, MOOG must be informed immediately so that telephone support can be provided by MOOG to avoid any consequential damage.
3. MOOG shall bear - insofar as the complaint proves to be justified - the expenses necessary for the purpose of subsequent performance, insofar as this does not result in a disproportionate burden on MOOG. Insofar as the expenses increase due to the fact that the Customer has taken the delivery item to a location other than the place of performance after delivery, any additional costs incurred as a result shall be borne by the Customer. In the event of the sale of a newly manufactured item, MOOG shall also reimburse, to the extent of its legal obligation, the expenses incurred by the Customer within the scope of recourse claims in the supply chain.
4. The Customer has the right to withdraw from the contract within the framework of the contractual provisions if MOOG - taking into account any statutory exception - allows a reasonable deadline set for the repair or replacement delivery due to a material defect to expire without result. If there is only an insignificant defect, the Customer is only entitled to a proportionate reduction in the contract price. The right to reduce the contract price shall otherwise remain excluded.
5. Further claims shall be determined exclusively in accordance with Section VIII. 2 of these Terms and Conditions.
6. In particular, no liability is assumed in the following cases: Unsuitable, improper or inappropriate use of the delivery item, faulty assembly or commissioning by the Customer or a third party, natural wear and tear, faulty or negligent handling and storage, improper maintenance, non-compliance with the annual required inspections, use of unsuitable operating materials, defective construction work, unsuitable subsoil, chemical, electrochemical or electrical influences as well as environmental influences (e.g. corrosion due to extreme weather conditions) - insofar as MOOG is not responsible for them.
7. The instructions for use, operation, and maintenance as well as the corresponding manuals must always be observed. The delivery item may only be operated, serviced, or repaired by trained personnel.
8. If the Customer or a third party makes any repairs, without MOOG's prior written consent, MOOG shall not be liable for the resulting consequences of the unauthorized actions. The same applies to any modifications of the delivery item, of any kind, made without the prior written consent of MOOG (e.g. the attachment of additional structural or electrical parts).
9. In the event of any transport damage, the contractually agreed Incoterms shall regulate the responsibilities with regard to the damage.

Legal defect

1. If the use of the delivery item leads to the infringement of commercial property rights or copyrights, in Germany, MOOG will, at its own expense, generally procure the right for the Customer to continue using the delivery item or modify the delivery item in a manner reasonable for the Customer in such a way that the infringement of such rights no longer exists.

2. If this is not possible under economically reasonable conditions or within a reasonable period of time, the Customer shall be entitled to withdraw from the contract. Under the aforementioned conditions, MOOG shall also be entitled to withdraw from the contract. In addition, MOOG will indemnify the Customer from undisputed or legally established claims of the relevant property right holders.
3. Subject to Section VIII.2, MOOG's obligations set forth in Section VII. 9 shall be final in the event of any infringement of property rights or copyrights. These obligations only exist when:
  - The Customer notifies MOOG immediately of any asserted infringements of commercial property rights or copyrights,
  - The Customer supports MOOG to a reasonable extent in defending the asserted claims or enables MOOG to carry out the modification measures in accordance with Section VII. 9,
  - MOOG reserves the right to take all defensive measures including out-of-court settlements,
  - The legal defect is not based on an instruction of Customer and
  - The infringement of rights was not caused by Customer's unauthorized modification of the delivery item or use of the delivery item in a manner not in accordance with the contract.

VIII. MOOG'S LIABILITY DISCLAIMER

1. If the delivery item cannot be used by the Customer in accordance with the contract as a result of MOOG culpably neglecting or culpably faulty suggestions or advice that took place before or after the conclusion of the contract, or due to the culpable breach of other contractual secondary obligations - in particular instructions for operation and maintenance of the delivery item - the provisions of Sections VII and VIII.2 shall apply to the exclusion of further claims by the Customer.
2. MOOG shall only be liable - on whatever legal grounds - for damage that has not occurred to the delivery item itself if:
  - a. in the event of willful intent and gross negligence on the part of management or senior executives,
  - b. in case of culpable injury to life, body, health,
  - c. in the case of defects which he has fraudulently concealed,
  - d. within the scope of a guarantee promise,
  - e. in the case of defects in the delivery item, insofar as liability exists under the Product Liability Act for personal injury or property damage to privately used items.
3. In the event of a culpable breach of essential contractual obligations, MOOG is also liable in the event of simple negligence, but limited to the typical, reasonably foreseeable damage.
4. Further claims are excluded.

IX. SPECIAL RIGHTS IN THE EVENT OF ORDER CANCELLATION

1. MOOG manufactures and supplies customer-specific bridge access solutions; all services, errands and manufacturing processes are processed exclusively on an order basis. In the case of an order cancellation by the customer - regardless of the assertion of further damage by MOOG - the following compensation and compensation payments, in particular, are to be made by the customer:
2. All order-related costs incurred at MOOG for the procurement of work materials, chassis and installation parts, remuneration for all working hours for planning and production incurred by MOOG up to the time of cancellation, reimbursement of the costs for the order-related inspection and engineering services by third parties (e.g., Test statics, TÜV / DEKRA, etc.).
3. Furthermore, all costs for rescheduling and reorganization of the production sequence and any downtime or idle times in production at MOOG, which are caused by the cancellation are to be reimbursed.

4. MOOG shall be reimbursed for any cancellation fees incurred for necessary cancellations of contracts already concluded by MOOG with third parties (e.g. forwarding companies, airline tickets or similar). Any profit lost by MOOG due to premature termination of an order by the Customer shall be additionally reimbursed by the Customer.
5. In the event of cancellation by the Customer, the Customer shall owe a contractual penalty of 15% of the order value; any further claims for damages by MOOG are not affected by this penalty; MOOG reserves the right to demonstrate higher damages.
6. MOOG shall be entitled to offset any claims against partial or advance payments.

X. JURISDICTION

1. All claims by the Customer - for whatever legal reasons - become statute-barred 12 months after the transfer of risk. If the collection is delayed or does not take place, all claims of the Customer shall become statute-barred at the latest after the expiry of 18 months from the notification of readiness for collection.
2. The limitation periods also apply to the limitation of recourse claims in the supply chain in accordance with Section 445b (1) of the German Civil Code (BGB), provided that the last contract in this supply chain is not a purchase of consumer goods. suspension of the statute of limitations according to Section 445b (2) of the German Civil Code (BGB) remains unaffected. It shall be provided for use on the delivery item intended for this purpose. Use of the software on more than one system is prohibited.
2. The Customer may only reproduce, revise, translate, or convert the software from the object code to the source code to the extent permitted by law (§§ 69 a ff. UrhG). The Customer undertakes not to remove manufacturer information - in particular copyright notices - or to change them without MOOG's prior express consent.
3. All other rights to the software and the documentation, including copies, remain with MOOG or the software supplier. Sublicensing is not permitted.
